XIV. Revised terms of reference for country visits by special procedure mandate holders

During country visits, special procedures mandate holders of the United Nations Human Rights Council, as well as United Nations staff accompanying them, should be given the following guarantees and facilities by the Government that invited them to visit its country:

- (a) Freedom of movement in any part of the country, including facilitation of transport, particularly to restricted areas;
- (b) Freedom of inquiry, in particular as regards:
 - (i) Contacts with central and local authorities of all branches of government;
 - (ii) Private contacts with representatives of civil society, including non-governmental organizations, other private institutions and the media;
 - (iii) Confidential and unsupervised contact with witnesses and other private persons, including persons deprived of their liberty, considered necessary to fulfil the mandate of the mandate holder;
 - (iv) Access to all prisons, detention centres and places of interrogation as considered necessary by the mandate holder to fulfil his or her mandate; and
 - (v) Full access to all documentary materials relevant to the mandate;
- (c) Assurance by the Government that no person or group of persons, whether acting in their official or individual capacities, who cooperate, seek to cooperate, or have cooperated with the mandate holder in relation to the mandate, will for this reason suffer intimidation, threats, harassment or punishment, be subjected to judicial proceedings or to any other kind of reprisals by any means whatsoever; assurance that any measures that could deter such cooperation or be perceived as such, will be avoided. These assurances should apply before, during and after the conduct of country visits.
- (d) Appropriate security arrangements without, however, restricting the freedom of movement and inquiry referred to above;
- (e) Extension of the same guarantees and facilities mentioned above to the appropriate United Nations staff who will assist the special procedures mandate holder before, during and after the visit.

Independent Expert on the enjoyment of human rights of persons with albinism	From 17 to 19 June 2016, the Independent Expert on the enjoyment of human rights by persons with albinism organized a consultative forum titled “Action on albinism in Africa” in Dar es Salaam, United Republic of Tanzania, in cooperation with the Government of the United Republic of Tanzania and various partners (including OHCHR, United Nations Country Team, World Bank, civil society organizations Standing Voice and Under the Same Sun, as well as various embassies). The Forum brought together over 150 participants from 26 countries in the region representing civil society, governments, national human rights institutions, regional and international governmental organizations and academia. During the two-day Forum, participants identified specific measures to address attacks against persons with albinism. Based on these measures, the Independent Expert is drafting a regional action plan to address attacks against persons with albinism. In this framework, the forum set-up a “think tank” to pursue its dialogue with the Independent Expert. On 8 November 2016, the Independent Expert, with the support of the Open Society Foundation, convened a high-level meeting in Pretoria, South Africa, to consult with representatives from the United Nations, the African Union, governments and civil society on the draft action plan to address attacks against persons with albinism. From 14 to 15 November 2016, the “think tank” elected during the consultative Forum held in June 2016, along with selected experts, convened in Nairobi, Kenya, with the support of the Open Society Initiatives of Southern Africa and of Eastern Africa, to refine the measures identified in the draft action plan to address attacks against persons with albinism and to build them into an effective road map containing concrete and achievable time-bound measures designed for the African context.
Working Group on the issue of human rights and transnational corporations and other business enterprises	From 2 to 3 March 2016, the Working Group held a meeting in Santiago, Chile, in cooperation with OHCHR Regional Office for South America. The meeting was held at the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean and was titled “Regional consultation for Latin America and the Caribbean on public policy for the implementation of the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights in the Framework of the 2030 Agenda on Sustainable Development”. It had an emphasis on the implementation of the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and feedback received noted that the meeting created a valuable space in which participants could share cross-regional practice and lessons learned on the implementation of the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and the development of national action plans. The Working Group presented a report of the meeting to the thirty-second session of the Human Rights Council (A/HRC/32/45/Add.4). From 19 to 20 April 2016, the Working Group convened the first United Nations Asia Regional Forum on Business and Human Rights in Doha, Qatar, in collaboration with OHCHR. The Asia Regional Forum attracted some 400 participants from 60 countries with the programme covering 30 different sessions. During the Forum, participants explored the salient business and human rights issues across Asia and identified areas at the national level where accelerated action is needed by States and companies to prevent and address business-related human rights harm. The Working Group presented a report of the meeting to the thirty-second session of the Human Rights

Council (A/HRC/32/45/Add.2). The Asia Regional Forum programme, session concept notes, statements and written submissions are available on the Forum webpage: <http://www.ohchr.org/EN/Issues/Business/Pages/2016AsiaRegionalForum.aspx>

On 7 June 2016, the Working Group organized, together with the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Working Party on Responsible Business, a workshop for policy makers on national action plans on business and human rights at OECD headquarters in Paris, France. The meeting was held on the margins of the OECD Global Forum on Responsible Business Conduct (8 to 9 June 2016), and build upon a joint policy workshop on National Action Plans held at the OECD in June 2015.

From 14 to 16 November 2016, the fifth annual Forum on Business and Human Rights took place under the guidance of the Working Group on Business and Human Rights. The Forum brought together more than 2,000 registered participants from 140 countries, representing the private sector, governments and civil society, around a programme of 67 thematic sessions. The programme addressed a number of key business-related human rights challenges around the globe where greater State and business leadership and leverage urgently need to be applied. Also reflecting the fifth anniversary of the endorsement of the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, the Forum aimed to drill down on a number of core issues and examine the role of many different stakeholders along the value chain and across business relationships. Broadly, the programme reflected four key messages: (1) States should “lead by example”; (2) Leadership and leverage should be exercised by all enterprises that make up the value chain (including parent companies, suppliers and financial institutions); (3) Better models of action and accountability are needed to drive business respect for human rights in order for companies to play a meaningful role in implementing the Global Goals; (4) Efforts should be increased to improve access to remedies for victims of human rights abuses and take concrete action to protect those in particularly vulnerable situations. The number of participants reflected the recognition of the Forum as the world’s foremost multi-stakeholder gathering for constructive dialogue and action on business and human rights. The report of the Forum will be presented to the Human Rights Council at its thirty-fifth session in June 2017.

On 15 December 2016, the Working Group convened a half-day expert consultation in Geneva, Switzerland, on the question of what an effective judicial remedy exactly means in relation to business-related human rights abuses, which is the theme of the Working Group’s report to the seventy-second session of the General Assembly in 2017.
